CALL FOR PRESENTATION PROPOSALS

NATI 2022 will be the 23rd annual conference of the Nebraska Association for Translators & Interpreters. The call for presentations is now OPEN.

Share your expertise, research, and experience on the campus of University of Nebraska at Kearney with a diverse group of interdisciplinary professionals who work toward cultural competency and language access for all. NATI is seeking presenters who offer unique insights, effective strategies, and timely information on topics relevant to our profession.

Presenting at the NATI Annual Conference is a challenging and rewarding opportunity. While building your reputation and widening your networking circle, you are helping to shape the future of the T&I industry. Speakers also receive free registration for the day they present. Hope to see you there as a presenter, either in person, or online!
